Lugano, 2nd October 2020

Distinguished Presidents,
Dear Colleagues,

The EADV Leadership is looking forward to welcoming thousands of delegates offering, for the first time, the opportunity to navigate through the latest advancements in science and patient care that are at the heart of our mission.

This unmissable appointment with the dermato-venereology community is less than one month away. This event will safely bring us together across frontiers!

As a result of the extraordinary efforts of our Scientific Programming Committee and Team, this year's programme consists of hundreds upon hundreds of unmissable presentations and abstracts covering diverse topics such as: sexual health and skin infections in a COVID world; life-enhancing therapeutics in cutaneous oncology; technologies as powerful care enablers (full programme: <https://eadvvirtualcongress.org/scientific/programme-glance/>).

The very best speakers and experts are committed to create an immersive, straightforward and unforgettable experience for delegates. Furthermore, our Communication Committee and Team have executed a stimulating campaign to promote the high quality of the event.
